1. NECESSITY FOR CHANGE:

Overnight the C.R. 675 Canal Improvement project received more than 7 inches of rainfall; C.R. 675 canal is an un-named tributary to Frye canal, which is a major branch of the Gamble Creek Watershed. Post storm, the C.R. 675 Canal embankment was found to be severely damaged by the storm. This embankment is approximately 15 feet from C.R. 675 - Rutland Road, a Major Collector Roadway.

As a result of this severe downpour and observed damages post storm near the roadway, County staff decided that it was in the best interest to armor the channel with rip-rap rock to protect C.R. 675 against any future damage.
